HONORS TO OFFICERS WHO SERVED IN THE SANTIAGO CAMPAIGN.

Den. Shafter Gets a Brevet as Major-General and Gra. Wood as Brigadier-Gen-eral Gov. Roosevelt Gets Two. One as folonel and One as Brigadier-General. Washington, Jan. 30.-The President sent to the Senate to-day for confirmation a long to the commutions for brevet promotions of efficers who served in Gen. Shafter's army in emeers army in the Santiago campaign. A few more then 500

sommations were included in the list, but the nominations were involved in the list, but the them were named twice for different brevet grades. Only officers who were actually under fire were recommended for brevet promotion by the board whose report the Prestdent adopted. No officer of any of the organimilens sent to reinforce Gen. Shafter after the fight of July 2 is included in the bestown the next, with the exception of the First and ethonors, with the exception of the First and Tairl Onto Intantry regiments, an officer of each of which imprecied to be at Santiago as an The lirst United States Volunteer Cavalr, the Second Massachusetts and the Thirtythird Michigan Infantry are the only volunteer erganizations which had officers nominated for in the report the Board on Brevets, consisting of Brig.-Gen. Theodore Schwan, Brig.-Gen. H. V. Boynton and Lieut.-Col. William H. Carter, says that the board decided to take up the Santago, Porto lineo and Manila campaigns in that order. These rules were adopted by the board for its guidance: For the Santiago campign, one brevet to be awarded to each officer recommended, giving as far as possible the date of July 1, 1808, when the principal action of this campaign took place, as the date to be bone on the brevet commission. Regular officers serving as volunteers to be brovetted as volunteers; those serving with the regulars to be brevetted in the regular service.

The board also decided to regard the La Guasina fight, June 24, 1808, as a separate and distinct battle from the engagements fought near Santingo. It was determined also not to recommend brevels for those officers who were promoted to be general officers of volunteers for services in these campaigns Recommendations by the board of officers not included in the following list will be sent in later. In order that action on the brevets might not be too long delayed, it was determined by the board to transmit so much of its proceedings as is included in the list sent to the Senate by the President and the remainder stast as the work can be completed. Recommendations are being received daily and such as are approved will be included in future lists, To understand the measure of the promotion eleach officer named in the appended list, it is sec-sary to know that those who served in the Santiago cumpaign as Second Lieutenants are nominated to be Brevet First Lieutenants, First Lieutenants to be Brevet Captains, Captains to to be Brevet Majors, Majors to be Brevet Lieutenant-Coloneia. Lieutenant-Colonela to bo Brevet Colonels, Colonels to be Brevet Briga-

Brevet Major-Generals. Where an officer skipped the next higher grade, such as a Captain nominated to be Lieutenant-Colonel, it is so indicated. A number of officers who were killed at Santlago, or died from the result of wounds received or disease contracted in the campaign, are included in the Caprons, fulber and son, who are brevetted Majors; capt "Bucky" O'Neil of the rough riders, Capt. Michie, Lieut, Ord and Lieut,-Col.

Gen. Shafter receives a brovet as Major-General of the regular army on the basis of his rank as a Bragadier-General of the regular army. "for distinguished services in the conduet of the Santiago campaign." He now holds the actual rank of a Major-General of Volunters. Major-tien Leonard Wood receives the brevet of Brigadier-General of Volunteers for his services as Colonel of the rough riders.

Gov. Roosevelt was nominated twice for progrant Colonel of Volunteers For gallantry in hatte at La Guasima, June 24, he will receive the brevet rank of Colonel, and for gallantry in battle at Santiago he will become a Brigadler-General the unusual honor being accorded of skipping a grade in advancement in the second omination. Some officers were nominated for their services in the La Guasima fight, others or the battle of El Caney, a few for their parbeliation in the engagement at Aguidores and large number for service "at Santiago." The brevets are conferred for distinguished serties, gallantry in battle and meritorious ser

The list of nominations included the followlowing named officers, each of whom was recommended by the board for brevet of next higher grade, regulars receiving brevets in the regular army and volunteers brevets in the

VERTIGO BLOCKS A LINE.

A Brooklyn Motorman Falls Unconscious on a lifth Avenue Trolley. Shortly before G o'clock last night a motor-man on a Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, trolley car was attacked with vertigo at Fifth avenue and Bergen street. He had stopped his car at the corner and was waiting for the bell to go ahead when he was overcome and fell on the front platform. The conductor and several passengers carried him to the corner drug store, where, after fifteen minates doctoring, he was able to start his car. Meantime, the cars for many blocks were stailed.

A Delirlous Sailor Escapes from the Naval Hospital.

William Wihthnol, 23 years old, a sailor on the cruiser New York, who has been under treatment at the Naval Hospital in Flushing ivenue. Brooklyn, for erysipelas, was found yesterday morning wandering in Washington avenue barefooted and clad only in his night shirt. He appeared to be delirious, and was brought back to the hospital. He made his es-cape from the basement, and to reach the street must have climbed the high brick wall surrounding the grounds, as the gate is guarded by a sentry.

Cloakmakers on the Verge of Striking. The clonkmakers started a series of shop meetings all over the east side yesterday to prepare schedules of prices for the season which has just opened. The employees of each manufacturer make out their own schedules of prices, which will be enforced by strikes if the prices demanded are refused.

REPORT OF THE GAME, FOREST AND FISH COMMISSION. Lumber and Wood Pulp Men Have Cut

458,995, A16 Feet of Timber the Past Year. Stripping 105,000 Acres of Forest Land. ALBANY, Jan. 30 .- The Game, Forest, and Fish Commissioners in their annual report say that they should have the power to stop fishing entirely in the small streams tributary to the Adirondack takes and large streams, as they rarely contain trout over five inches in length On the subject of the Adirondack forest lands the report says:

"The lumber and wood pulp industries of our State continue to make a heavy drain upon the resources of our Adirondack forests. The demand is increasing; the supply is rapidly diminishing. With such conditions the result is easily foreseen. In the past year 450,995,-41d feet of timber was cut and removed fron the great forest of northern New York. This means that over 105,000 acres of forest land was stripped of its merchantable timber. It does not imply that this area was denuded or left without forest cover, but it means that our State is that much nearer the end of its timber state is that much hearer the end of its timber supply, and that it is a serious menace to our economia conditions. A still more serious feature of this timber cutting is that, with the exception of a few localities, no provision whatever is made for the future growth. These exception of a few localities, no provision whatever is made for the future growth. These unfavorable conditions can be remedied only by thoughful, judicious legislation. A forestry policy providing for such future supply need not antagonize the great industries now dependent upon our forests for their raw material. The commission is contemplating the inauguration of some scientific forestry work in the way of reforesting the barren, burned or denuded tracts, of which there are several areas, large and small, in the forest preserve."

The appointment of an Assistant State Superintendent of Forest to supervise the work of the fire wardens is recommended. Last year 2,705 illegal devices used for catching fish were destroyed. Their value was $30,000.

The commission recommends an appropripriation of $2,000 to care for the St. Lawrence River State Park lands and that there be a close season of one month for whitefish during their spawning season. With the work being done by the commission in stocking lakes and the close season of one month while swawning they feel confident that this most valuable fish ne close season of one month while scawning seyfeel confident that this most valuable fish in be restored to the great lakes and made entiful in several of the smaller ones through-it the State.

out the State.

The commission having made a successful start in rearing game birds, have gone as far as their very limited means would permit and recommend that an appropriation be granted for the construction of suitable inclosures and the further continuance of the work. With the birds on hand and a small appropriation, 500 Mongolian pheasants could be reared and distributed this year.

Nearly 189,000,000 fry were planted by the commission in the waters of this State during the fiscal year ended Oct. 1, 1898. Of this number 4,000,000 were brook trout, 1,000,000 the fiscal year ended Oct. 1, 1898, Of this number 4,000,000 were brook trout, 1,000,000 brown trout, 200,000 rainbow trout, 1000,000 lake trout, 17,000,000 pike perch, 2,500,000 yellow perch, 120,000 bass, 1,500,000 herring, 6,500,000 lobsters, 48,000,000 tomcods, 48,000,000 tomcods, 48,000,000 bass, 1,500,000 white-fish, 11,000,000 shad and 65,000 shring.

The tolicy adopted by the commission of planting larger and older fish in addition to fry is meeting the approbation of the fishing fraternity. From the numerous reports received in regard to the fishing in streams and lakes where fingerings or yearlings have been planted, it is satisfactorily shown that the work should be continued, as the results fully warrant the additional expense.

Heports have been received regarding streams and lakes stocked within the last two years with fingerling and yearling brown and rain,

Reports have been received regarding streams and lakes stocked within the last two years with fingerling and yearling brown and rainbow trout (waters that never before contained these varieties), that during the past fishing senson specimens varying in weight from one-half to one and one-half pounds have been taken. From all over the State come encouraging reports of better fishing. The commission has done more in the way of restocking the streams in the past two years than was ever done before.

AN INVESTORS' CO. INDICTED.

Fort Smith, Ark., Grand Jury Declares Cir.

culars from New York a Fraud. G. Percival Stawart and D. J. Pierce, the local representatives of the American Investors Company, the home office of which is at Providence, R. I., were arrested yesterday morning at their offices in the Potter building by United States Deputy Marshals on bench warrants issued last Tuesday by Judge John H. Rodgers of the United States Court for the Western District of Arkansas. Stewart and Pierce, with Stewart's brother, William P. Stewart, have been indicted by the Pederal Grand Jury at Fort Smith, Ark., on the charge of using the mails for fraudulent purposes. It is alleged in the indictment that there was a violation of the Postal law in transmitting through the mails the American Investors' Company's circulars offering for sale shares in the "Fort Smith Rent Purchase Fund," for the holders of which Rent Purchase Fund." for the holders of which shares the company agreed to buy lots and build houses in Fort Smith.

The prisoners were paroled by United States Commissioner Alexander in the custody of their lawyer, Philip Carpenter, who promised to bring them with the other Mr. Stewart before the Commissioner to-day.

The prisoners seemed to regard the indictment as something in the nature of a practical loke at their expense.

THREE ROY BURGLARS CAUGHT.

They Had a Pistol and a Screwdriver and

Were Ransacking a Brooklyn Grocery. Policeman Plant of the Raigh avenue station saw a boy acting suspiciously in front of Martin Pfenkin's grocery, at 638 Decatur street, early yesterday morning. When he saw the policeman the boy ran away, and Plant returned to the grocery, where he surprised Frederick McCue of 2232 Pacific street and Bert Hilbert of 196 McDougal street, each 15 years old, ransacking the store. The boys had foliation, rubbacking the street. The boys had filled their pockets with ebocolate, candy and tobacco, and had broken the cash register and taken til cents. They had a revolver and a serowdriver. They said their companion was Anthony Koch of 516 Glemmore avenue. He was arrested. The three were arraigned in the Gates Avenue Police Court for burglary and held for the Grand Jury.

A New Company to Take Over the Brook

ALBANY, Jan. 30 .- The Brooklyn Union Elevated Railroad Company, a reorganization of the Brooklyn Elevated Bailroad Company of Brooklyn, was incorporated this afternoon at the office of the Secretary of State with a capital stock of $18,000,000, divided into 180,000 shares. Of this amount $13,000,000 is common and $5,000,000 preferred stock. The preferred shall be entitled to a non-cumulative dividend annually before anything shall be dividend annually before anything shall be paid on the common stock. The directors are Frederic P. Obest, James T. Woodward, Charles Parsons, Ernest Thalmann, Leonard Lewison, Frederick Uhlmann, Simon Uhlmann, Edward Lauterbach, Henry Sidenterg, Emil Schaefer, Simon Rothschild, William Halls, Jr., and George W. Wingate.

Within a week or so application will be made to the Supreme Court for the discharge of the receiver of the Brooklyn Elevated road, and when this is done the new company will take possession of the property. The next step will probably be the renewal of the negotiations looking to the absorption of the road by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company.

Early Morning Blaze in a Brooklyn Apartment House. A fire started from some unknown cause at the foot of the dumbwaiter in the five-story apartment house known as "The Clinton," is Clinton and Pacific streets, Brooklyn, about 3 o'clock yesterday morning, and the flames quickly spread to the upper portion of the building. A milkman who was passing luckily discovered the blaze before it had made much discovered the blaze before it had made much progress, and, first hurrying around to the nearest fire station, gave an alarm, and then returning to the house aroused the tenants, who numbered over fifty. All escaped uninjured, but most of them had to hurry to the street in their nightclothes. The building, which is owned by the D. & M. Channesy estate, was damaged to the extent of $5,000, and the losses to the occupants exceeded that amount.

THE NOMINATION OF CHAS. A. HESS. Interesting Testimony in His Libel Suit Against the "Press" Newspaper.

Further testimony in the $50,000 libel suit of Charles A. Hees against the New York Press was taken resterday before Justice Fureman In the Supreme Court. Mr. Hess was the Republican candidate for Congress in the Twelfth district in 180d. The Press opposed his nomination, alleging that he was not a resident of the Tweifth district, that he had agreed to buy his nomination for $5,000, and that he was not a Republican, having left that party and associated himself with John J. Scannell, the Tammany leader.

Ervin Wardman, editor of the Press, testified yesterday that he was a resident of the Twelfth district and personally interested in its politics. He had talked with Edward Lauterbach about the numination and had understood that Lother Little would get it. Two days before a candidate was named he learned from one of his reporters that Hess was being talked of for the nomination. The next day Wardman saw Lauterbach, who said that Hess had agreed to put up $5,000 and that he, Lauterbach, was afraid he couldn't pull off [Amasa] Thornton and [Lightning Jim] Stewart, Wardnation, Lauterbach asked what Carpenter's nation. Lauterbach asked what Carpenter's financial condition was, and Wardman said that it was good. Lauterbach told Wardman to have Carpenter meet him the next day, and Wardman left with the understanding that Hess was not to be nominated.

Mr. Wardman also testified to a conversation that Mr. Einstein, the proprietor of the Press, had with Mr. Lauterbach over the telephone. He had caught some of Mr. Lauterbach's answer and distinctly heard him say "$5,000." Connected with what he heard Mr. Einstein say he drew his own conclusions, but he did not hear the whole sentence in which Mr. Lauterbach was to have been examined in the afternoon, but the Court excused him to attend a funeral. He will be heard this morning.

in the alternoon, but the Court excused him to attend a funeral. He will be heard this morning.

Jackson Tinker, a reporter on the Press, testified that he heard in the Fifth Avenue Botel that Hess was distributing checks to workers all through the district. He heard that a man named Darby had received one and he hunted up Darby. Darby showed him the check. It was for $75, drawn on the Lincoln National Bank, and signed "Charles A. Hess." Tinker made a copy of the check and it was printed in the Press. When he was asked by counsel for the plaintiff if he didn't know that the check was a forgery he said he didn't.

William Henkel, a United States Marshal and a Republican worker, testified to having received in the presence of Mr. Hess a check for $975 signed H. H. Brockway. Mr. Brockway grave him the check in the Astor House.

"What was said when he gave you the check?" asked De Lancey Nicoli, counsel for the Press.

"Not a word."

"Not him about what the money was for?"

"No, sir"

"Thank you."

Later the witness explained that an agreement had already been reached before the receipt by him of the check that the money was to be used for legitimate campaign expenses in the interest of Mr. Hess. It was to be distributed at the rate of $25 an election district.

"Lightning Jim" Stewart, another Republican worker, testified to receiving a check for $975 from Brockway to be used for the same purposes as Henkel's check. He denied that he or Thornton had talked about money at a conference they held in the Glisey House with Mr. Hess.

Mr. Hess was called and denied that he was a resident of New Jersey at the time of his a conference they held in the Gilsey House with Mr. Hess, Mr. Hess, Mr. Hess was called and denied that he was a resident of New Jersey at the time of his nomination. He denied having contributed a certified check for $5,000 as the price of his nomination. He said that he had expressed a willingness to ray legitimate expenses and that after his nomination he had written a check for $2,500. This check was introduced in evidence. He also denied that he ever left the Republican party or that he was in any way a friend or associate of Scannell. Court adjourned until this morning at the close of his testimony.

LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR BURGLARY Threatens Straub-He Is Advised to Tell Who Murdered Eberhardt.

Emil Straub, a big broad-shouldered German, was convicted in the General Sessions yesterday of burglary in the first degree. He may be sentenced to life imprisonment.

Straub and Frank Muhihofer broke into the residence of Nicholas Reinlein at 537 Sixth street at 3 o'clock on the morning of Jan. 9. Straub threatened to kill Reinlein if he made an outery. Then the burglars packed up and carried off all the clothing Beiniein and his wife owned. They had to borrow clothes next morning to go to the police and complain. This was on the block where a burglar killed Eberhardt last week. Policeman Wichman testified that Stranb is a member of the gang of burglars known as "Dutch Pete's" gang, was suspected of being concerned in the murder of the church bell ringer in Williamsburg and of being concerned in the murder of Policeman Smith in the Redemptorist Church in Third street. The men arrested for killing Eberhardt, the policeman said, were members of the same gang. Judge said, were members of the same gang. Judge Cowing said to the prisoner:

"If you know who shot Eberhardt you had better tell it. You are convicted of barglary in the first degree. The maximum penalty is life imprisonment. The lowest sentence I could possibly impose upon you would be ten years. But I think it may be State prison for life. It is a rare thing in the criminal courts to get a conviction of burglary in the first degree. I think a man so convicted should not escape with less than life imprisonment. A man who breaks into a house where sleep disarms its inmates breaks into that house with the intention of killing the first person who awakens. Your counsel has requested me to postpone sentence in your case. I will postpone sentence for justone day. Then you may get life imprisonment."

prisonment."

While Judge Cowing was talking, Straub did not move a muscle of his face. He remained standing before the bar and when the Judge had concluded his remarks the burglar turned to a court officer, saying; "Come, get me out of here."

BYRNE KILLED BY A KICK.

CORONER'S JURY HOLDS M'DONALD RESPONSIBLE FOR HIS DEATH.

Three Witnesses Testified They Saw the Conductor Rick Byrne in the Neck-Dr. Williams Said He Was Not Kicked at All -His Opinion of Ambulance Surgeons An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner Zuces in the case of William F. Byrne of 832 Manhattan avenue, Greenpoint, who, it is alleged, was kicked in the neck and killed on the evening of Jan. 13 by Michael McDonald, the conductor of a Thirty-fourth street crosstown car. Polleeman Frank J. Burns of the East Thirty-fifth street station, George M. Lounze of 34 East Twelfth street, and Philip Kramer, a walter in the Waldorf-Asteria. testified that they saw McDonald kick Byrne.

ney for Mr. Meeks and that he had drawn his will. It was in consideration of these services that Mr. Meeks promised to give the Judge the diamond.

Mrs. Meeks said that if her husband had promised Judge Smith the stone he did not know what he was talking about. She also said that the diamond was purchased in Europe several years ago at a fancy price, and that her husband had never worn it in this country. It would show a lack of good taste to wear such a large and brilliant stone, and as Mr. Meeks had never worn it; Judge Smith never could have seen it. He probably had seen the gold stud, which, she insisted, was what her husband had really said he would give to Judge Smith. District Attorney Walter H. Jaycox of Patchoue testified that he had seen Mr. Meeks wear the stone on several occasions, and that at one time, while he was admiring it. Mr. Meeks said: "That is to belong to Judge Smith when I am dead." George Odell of Bayport also had seen Mr. Meeks wear the stone on several occasions. Meeks had no counsel. She said she did not think she required any aftorney. There was no suestion in her mind but that her husband intended to give Judge Smith the collar button instead of the diamond seaf vin. She saked District Attorney Jaycox how he knew the diamond produced in evidence was the one he had seen Mr. Meeks wear. Mr. Jaycox said that he could easily identify it by its large size, peculiar cut and remarkable brilliancy. Mrs. Meeks asked for a decision from Judge Petty immediately. The Judge hesitated, but finally said that unquestionably Mr. Meeks intended to convey the scarf pin and not the collar button to Judge Smith, and he would rule that Judge Smith should take the diamond home with him. Thereupon the stone was turned over to Judge Smith. and he would rule that Judge Smith should take the diamond home with him. Thereupon the stone was turned over to Judge Smith.

Robert Winsted, who is Baich's father-in-law, then denounced Balch for not taking better care of his family. He accused Balch of having eloped with his daughter 13 years ago, and told Magistrate Crane that he had never properly supported his wife. Magistrate Crane dismissed the complaint.
